Changes and Updates:

Page 2: Clemson University mandated mask use in all facilities through Wednesday, September 8. While the catalog states that masks are "strongly recommended," we require masks when the University requires masks. We will continue to provide space in all classrooms for social distancing.

Page 4: The New and Returning Member Orientation sessions have been rescheduled and now require registration; click here to access the Events page on our website to register.

Page 4: Free programs for Members now require registration; click here to access the Events page on our website to review the calendar and register. Please note a second session of "Fort Hill through the Eyes of Anna Maria Clemson" has been added. Currently Special Interest Group attendance does not require registration.

Page 15: "The Real Story of Populism" is now a hybrid course – you can participate in-person or via Zoom. The course will be held in Room 205, which limits in-person attendance but offers the best hybrid experience. Click here to register for in-person option; click here for zoom course.

Page 25: "Free Will and Science: Musings for Barstool Physicists and Starbucks Philosophers" is now a hybrid course – you can participate in-person or via Zoom. The course will be held in Room 205, which limits in-person attendance but offers the best hybrid experience. Click here to register for in-person option; click here for zoom course.
